V2X Selected for DTRA's $3.5 Billion CTRIC IV Contract, Advancing Global WMD Threat Reduction

2025-09-18

RESTON, Va., Sept. 18, 2025 /PRNewswire/ -- V2X Inc., (NYSE: VVX), has been awarded a position on the Defense Threat Reduction Agency's (DTRA) Cooperative Threat Reduction Integrating Contract IV (CTRIC IV). V2X is one of six recipients selected for this indefinite-deliver, indefinite-quantity contract, which carries a ceiling value of $3.5 billion over a five-year base period with five additional option years.

CTRIC IV supports the Department of Defense's global Cooperative Threat Reduction program, which aims to reduce threats posed by weapons of mass destruction and related materials. Under this contract, V2X will execute current and future work to provide comprehensive support to counter and eliminate chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear threats worldwide.

"This award underscores our proven ability to support high-consequence missions on a global scale," said Jeremy C. Wensinger, President and Chief Executive Officer of V2X. "With our global footprint and strong operational capabilities, we are well-equipped to deliver innovative solutions in support of DTRA's mission, wherever they are needed. We're honored to be selected for the CTRIC follow-on contract, which reflects our track record of success. We look forward to building on this momentum and expanding our impact through this opportunity."

The CTRIC IV contract expands V2X's presence in critical global threat reduction efforts and reinforces its role as a trusted partner in domestic and international defense initiatives.
